Putting the old site down

This has been my work for about 2 hours tonight. Getting ready to shut down an old blog. tullos.org. Lots of memories and thoughts about life so far. When I reflected on how life was back about ten years ago I am reminded about how constantly I was weary as a Dad, Pastor, Editor, commuter, husband, worshiper…. Life is calmer these days even though I have three jobs right now. I whispered my repentance for the days I chose busy-ness over fellowship with Jesus.